Dear Paul,

Thank you for your inquiry. We are aware that individuals may inappropriately use the UPS name or its services to perpetuate fraudulent activities. The tracking number you were provided by the seller is not related to you nor the package you were expecting. If you continue to have issues, you can file a police report or report this incident to the Internet Crime Complaint Center at www.ic3.gov. While UPS is not liable for the actions of third parties, we are working to prevent and detect fraud where possible. We appreciate you taking the time to make sure we are aware of the situation.

For more information from UPS on protecting yourself against fraud, please visit UPS.com at the address below: www.ups.com/fraudprotection

Thank you,
